

Plymouth Harbor, Sarasota, FL

Construction Type:

25-story unpainted concrete structure, designed in the style of the Sarasota School of Architecture, with no steel frame.

Challenge:

The project needed to be completed with minimal disruption to residents due to the sensitive nature of the assisted living environment. The building's impressive height of 250 feet also presented significant access and logistical challenges.

Solution:

The project was executed per the designated timeline, ensuring minimal disruption to daily operations and resident activities. Swing stages were utilized to safely and efficiently access the building's height, allowing the team to perform the work with precision while maintaining a quiet, controlled work environment.
